

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR DR. BARIS SARIAKÇALI

Graduation: Çukurova University Faculty of Medicine.

Subspecialization: Çukurova University Faculty of Medicine.

Endocrinology and metabolism is a subspecialty of internal medicine. Endocrinologists receive the title of Endocrinology and Metabolic Diseases Specialist by studying in the sub-branch of Endocrinology and Metabolism in 3 or 4 years after receiving Internal Medicine education after Medical Faculty. Endocrinologists are trained to diagnose and treat hormone imbalance and related problems. Endocrine diseases are common diseases in society. It deals with the diagnosis and treatment of diseases such as diabetes mellitus, goiter, hypothyroidism, hyperthyroidism, hair growth, inability to have children, menstrual disorders, obesity, metabolic bone diseases such as osteoporosis, osteomalacia, growth retardation, acromegaly, Cushing's syndrome.